AP Limited Editions represents rare and unique forms of art, handed across time and cultures. Expanding traditional definitions of art, our limited edition pens will honor your family of heirlooms for years to come.

Each pen has been crafted with passion and precision over several months from design to conception and continues its journey of telling the story. We find lasting inspiration in our products, and hope you do as well...

Our Philosophy

The AP Limited Editions is borne from years of passion for writing with fountain pens. The fascination for collecting pens began at the age of nine when I was growing up in India and learned fine penmanship. This was nurtured through time, by reading, using and learning about pen related ephemera. I spent my teenage years living and studying in England where I spent weekends exploring fountain pens at Burlington Arcade, Battersea, Covent Garden and Harrods. All my savings went towards a prized fountain pen helping me slowly build a small collection of pens that were absolutely intriguing for me. My pens were not just a part of a collection to view – I thoroughly enjoyed putting the fine nibs to paper. I used to dream of how I would launch a line of pens that would be everything I desired to own.

I found my home and heart in the United States and the opportunity of realizing my dream. Becoming a part of the collector fraternity in America further enhanced my knowledge of pens. Visits to various pen shows and meeting with other collectors, drove my inspiration towards conviction to launch The AP Limited Editions. Every introduction in The AP Limited Editions is for the discerning, for those who understand and appreciate quality and only desire the very best. My intent is to bring to you, a product that is not only unique and beautiful, but a true work of art to become an heirloom over time.

I see creativity as a dynamic spiral, moving upwards and onwards, driving passion to newer heights, and taking the best of the past to new horizons into the future. I seek new inspiration with each creation and hope you find that too.

Fountain Pens: Limited Editions Maki-e Art from Japan A Divine Romance (New for 2008)

Love, is the greatest emotion of human life and finds its pinnacle in the Divine Romance of Radha – Krishna.

The greatest love legend to become immortalized in Indian mythology is the story of Radha – a beautiful gopi (cowherd) and Krishna, one of the most loved Gods of the Hindu pantheon and the central figure of the renowned Bhagavada Gita.

Radha's love for Krishna has a significance that goes much beyond mortal love – it becomes the soul's quest for unification with the ultimate truth, the Divine.

Growing up to herd cows, Radha was a childhood friend of Krishna, and the two later became lovers. Krishna would play the flute and Radha would be in raptures. Her passion and devotion for him elevates the experience of love from the sensual to the sublime, from the mortal to the divine.
